Контрольная работа №2

1. Listening

Listen and mark the correct statement: True, False, Not Stated.

1. Liz thought the interview was a failure.
2. Liz didn't know what to wear to the interview.
3. Liz's favorite clothes is jeans.
4. Liz wasn't asked many questions at the interview.
5. Liz is sure that she'll get the job.

2. Reading

Match the texts (1-6) to the headings (A-G). There is one extra heading that you do not need to use.

A Teenagers: stress at school

B Music improves school results

C Long summer holidays

D Computer games motivate pupils

E. Playing games helps to learn better

F. Tests: more or fewer?

G. No lessons at weekends?

H. Breaks between lessons

1. Most adults seem to think that children would learn better if they did more homework. But in fact this is not the case. All the evidence suggests that children need to play more, not less. Play, in fact, is the work of childhood and if youngsters played more, they would do much better at school. Psychologists say that classroom role-playing can be very good for child's development. But we see the demands of the curriculum mean opportunities for such role-play are limited. Role play is valued highly by both children and adults. It can make a significant contribution to learning and development.

2. I think that breaks between lessons should be longer. It's necessary for us. We are very tired after our lessons and breaks gives us a chance to stretch our legs after sitting in class. If you are hurry, you can eat something after a lesson. Breaks give an opportunity to prepare for the next lesson. A lot of students want to talk to their friends during the breaks. If the breaks are longer, you won't feel exhausted at the end of the day.

3. Our day is quite short. We have six lessons and finish at 14.05. But we also have lessons on Saturday, which is horrible. Students can't stand going to school on Saturday morning. The weekends are for relaxing and doing things you enjoy. No one is in the mood for lessons on Saturday morning. Everyone would be much happier if we were free on Saturdays.

4. The teachers think that if summer breaks were shorter, children would do much better at school. When children get back from their long summer break, they don't just carry on from where they stopped in May. They have to do the same things again. If summer holidays were shorter, this would not happen. People who say things like that can't remember what it was like to be a child. Actually, the summer holiday is the only time of the year when we can escape from all those tests. If we didn't have the long summer holidays, we would never get the chance to play and discover the world in our own way.

5. Tests... Nobody likes them. They are the most stressful situations for pupils. But I can't say they are a stupid waste of time. If we didn't have them, I don't suppose I'd study at all. Some students say that they always forget what they've learned as soon as the exams are over. But I remember nearly all of what I've learned. What type of tests do I like best: oral or written and which is easier to pass? Of course, 'essay' tests are more difficult and serious. You cannot get a high score just by making a lucky guess. So, I think that tests are a necessary part of learning.

6. According to the research, the most stressful situations for teenagers are the following: when the teacher shouts at them or he is unfair when they are not prepared for the lesson and before a test. If we are prepared for the lesson, we will avoid the negative impact of stress. If the teacher doesn't shout at pupils and the relationships between teacher and pupils are not complicated, pupils won't be under stress.

7. A survey of 1,000 teachers suggests a third of teachers are using computer games in the classroom. But they need to understand how, when and when not to use games to support lessons. If teachers believe computer games are a "motivation tool" they will use them in the future. I think, If they use computer games in the classroom, there will be educational benefits.

A. Florida has always been very popular with tourists from different parts of the world. It presents a lucky combination of pleasant climate and man-made attractions. Thousands of parents and their children go there in search of fun, sun and entertainment. They enjoy theme parks like the Walt Disney World Resort and the Sea World Resort, numerous movie studios, water parks, pools and other facilities.

Children can enjoy magic exhibits or explore science at special centers situated within the area of the resort. They can also watch wild animals at the Animal Kingdom or enjoy one of the world movies at Disney Studios.

C. However, there is more to see in Florida than just Mickey Mouse. Florida is probably the sunniest state of the USA. Its nickname is the 'Sunshine State'. Though Florida is one of the flattest states in America, its landscape is really amazing. Lakes with fresh water, hills, forests, eight miles of coastline and countless small islands create a fantastic atmosphere in the resort.

cafes offer tourists excellent service, tasty seafood and a vast variety of drinks to cool down on a hot day.

F. Hurricanes are a fact of Florida life. They can affect some vacations that is why it's wise to avoid Florida in certain months. The Florida Hurricane Season officially starts on June 1 and ends on November 30. Historically, September is the most active month of the year.
